

A TRAGEDY.

Like the Deacon Case, Except a Woman Does the Work.

With Pistol She Rushes Upon Her Husband's New Love.

She Fires Five Shots at the Latter and then Stabs the Wounded Woman in the Breast—A Frenzied Wife's Mad Revenge in Paris.

PARIS, May 24.—The wife of a well known club man has for some time past suspected that her husband was carrying on a liaison with the wife of an official high in the government. As soon as her husband left the house Saturday night she hastily threw on her wraps and followed him. He entered a house in the Quartier L'Europe. His wife remained outside for some time, and then entered. She discovered the apartments her husband had entered. The door of the room was locked, but the infuriated woman, threw herself against it and forced it open. Inside were her husband and the wife of the official. The evidence was complete. The wronged wife had a revolver in the pocket of her dress. Drawing her weapon she advanced upon the woman, who had crouched in abject fear in a corner of the room, and deliberately aiming at her, fired. The bullet struck home. The wounded woman begged piteously to be spared. But she appealed in vain. Again and again did the revolver flash, until five bullets had taken effect.

During the shooting the husband, it is said, stepped forward to disarm his wife, but she turned on him, and threatened to kill him if he advanced another foot. Other people in the room rushed to the apartment, but none dared to place a hand upon the woman.

After the cartridges in the revolver were exhausted, the wife calmly awaited the coming of the police, who had been summoned, and then quietly signified her desire to be taken away from the place. The wounded woman died in a few hours.

The name of the murderess is Madame Raymond, and that of her victim Madame Delaporte-Lassimonne. The murdered woman was a niece of Jean Casimir-Perier. Madame Raymond, who is a pretty brunette and only twenty-four years old, says that Madame Delaporte was an intimate friend of hers who had separated from her husband. She herself introduced Madame Delaporte to M. Raymond, and soon afterward discovered that they were meeting secretly.

Two Boys Seriously Burned. MUSKIE, Ind., May 24.—Monday Johnnie and Frank Gallivan, aged 9 and 11, entered the regulator house at a natural gas well in the southeast part of the city, to see how the gas was made. They lighted a match, and in a moment the house was in flames. The lads are at home, frightfully burned. One will lose his eye, and the other one's life is in danger. A large leak in the packing of the well is on fire, and so far it has been impossible to extinguish the big flame.

Rarus, the Famous Trotter, Dead.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Rarus, long known as king of the trotting turf, died on Mr. Robert Bonner's Tarrytown farm Tuesday. He was twenty-five years old, and died of old age. At Buffalo, in 1878, he lowered the trotting record to 2:13 1/4, and remained king of the turf until October 17, 1879, when St. Julien reduced the mark to 2:13 1/4.

"QUIZ DAY."

And Dr. Parkhurst Is Quizzed in a Lively Manner By Some of His Brethren.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 24.—During the meeting of the Presbyterian Ministerial association Monday Rev. Dr. Parkhurst was severely attacked for visiting haunts of vice in the metropolis. It was "quiz day" with the ministers, and among the many interesting questions propounded was one worded: "Is a pastor justified in secretly visiting haunts of vice with a view to exposing them?" Rev. George N. Johnson, who was assigned to the task of introducing the subject, held very emphatic views on Dr. Parkhurst's methods, and did not mince matters in expressing them. He did not think a man wearing the cloth of the ministry of the Gospel had any right to visit places of vice, whether to expose them or not. Dr. Parkhurst may have been acting in self-defense. Nevertheless he assumed a disguise, entered the dens of iniquity, and, once in there, positively practiced deception on the persons whom he wished to expose. That was not the office of the Christian minister; it was not the way to redeem the fallen; it was a direct violation of the Bible teachings and was uncalled for.

There was no general discussion on the topic, but it was decided to further consider it when the ministers next met.

PLUCKY, IF NOT WISE.

Capt. Andrews Will Start Across the Atlantic in a Boat Fourteen and a Half Feet Long.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 24.—Capt. Wm. A. Andrews, of Boston, who is here constructing the boat in which he intends to cross the ocean, expects to sail by July. It will be the smallest craft that has been built for a transatlantic voyage, 14 1/2 feet in length, 5 feet beam, and will carry not more than fifteen square yards of sail. The deck is on the whaleback plan. There is an opening three by five feet, in which there is just room enough for a person to sit comfortably. Under the deck are compartments in which the provisions are to be stored. The mast rises eight feet above the deck, and the boom is thirteen feet. Three hundred pounds of lead will be securely fastened to the bottom, and it would be almost impossible for the boat to capsize. Should such an accident happen, however, it will right itself without assistance.

BOUGHT A SHROUD.

And Then Went and Put a Bullet Into His Brain.

RICHMOND, Ky., May 24.—Cassius M. Taylor, a wealthy farmer residing at Red House, in this county, Monday attempted suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. The bullet entered at the right temple and ranged upward, failing to accomplish the deadly aim. He held in one hand a looking-glass, in order to direct his aim. He left a letter in which he said he was tired of living, and gave instructions as to how he should be buried, as he had purchased a suit of clothes in which to be interred. He was insane, and was 60 years of age, having been married twice, the last match occurring ten months ago. Marital troubles led to a separation, which doubtless drove him to commit the deed. He leaves several children and an estate worth $25,000. He can not survive.

REFUSED BAIL.

The Suspected Murderer of M. J. Carey at Anchorage, Ky., Will Have to Wait in Jail for a Trial.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 24.—Judge Thompson transferred the examining trial of Ellis and Buchanan, the men who are charged with the murder of M. J. Carey at the Anchorage asylum, to the county court. The two men appeared before Judge Hoke Monday, and were refused bail. The case was set for Thursday morning, and Ellis and Buchanan were sent to jail. After their release on Saturday the attendants went to the asylum, and were dismissed from that institution by Dr. Pusey, the superintendent. The bitterest feeling exists against the men, many believing that hanging is too good for them.

FRANKFORT, Ky., May 24.—Railroad Commissioners Woodson, McChord and Poyntz Monday morning took the oath of office and entered upon the discharge of their duties. DEEMING DEAD.

His Wicked Career Finally Cut Short By the Gibbet.

Prison Authorities Declare They Never Saw a Man Like This One.

He Persistently Denied Committing the Bathill Murders, But Confessed That He Killed His Wife, Miss Mather—At Last He Broke Down Completely.

MELBOURNE, Aus., May 24.—Fred Deeming, the supposed "Jack the Ripper," whose many murders have shocked the whole civilized world, paid the penalty of his crimes on the scaffold, the trap being sprung at exactly 10 o'clock Monday morning. Just before he was led to the scaffold he broke down completely and seemed to lose his mind, it being necessary to assist him in walking. He confessed to murdering his second wife, Miss Mather, while temporarily insane, but all the other crimes he denies. He spoke very bitterly against the officials who refused him both a new trial and a respite. He said that if he ever got free he would suicide, as the newspapers and the public had blasted his life.

Deeming passed Sunday in writing, calmly discussing at intervals his approaching doom.

He said he had no intention of making a speech on the scaffold. On Sunday night he thrice swallowed eagerly a small allowance of spirits, after which he slept soundly until he was awakened at 7 o'clock Monday morning.

Then for the first time since his arrest the manacles of his wrists were removed, and, smoking a cigar, he conversed with those around him.

He declared that he was resigned to his fate and had no fears in regard to the future. To the governor of the prison he said he had made his peace with God. He persisted in denying that he was guilty of the Bathill murders.

A few moments before the time set for the execution Deeming was allowed a glass of brandy, which he swallowed at a gulp, and he was told that he might have more if the prison doctor so ordered.

The doomed man was then led to the gallows, and in a few moments all was over. The drop was seven feet. The execution was witnessed by a large gathering, including government and civil officials, magistrates, police and clergymen. There was an immense crowd outside the prison from an early hour in the morning until long after the execution was over.

THE WHEAT CROP

In the Northwest Is Short About Fifty Million Bushels.

ST. PAUL, May 24.—A. C. Clansen, chief grain inspector of Minnesota, returned from a trip over the northern part of the state. Referring to the prospects of a crop of wheat this year, he said: "North of the line of the Northern Pacific, along the line of the Red river, both in North Dakota and Minnesota, wheat seeding has progressed very slowly indeed. Figuring the acreage likely to be put into wheat in the states of North Dakota, South Dakota and Minnesota, with the average yield of the last five years, there is likely to be a shortage of from 40,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels from last year's yield, which is conceded to have been about 150,000,000 bushels.

Argentine Will Be There.

WASHINGTON, May 24.—Dr. Bortellette, World's fair commissioner to the Argentine Republic, writes that the Argentine commission is now actively at work and that they will want 3,500 square metres of space at the exposition. The commission has opened an office and is sending out large quantities of papers and circulars to the different officials throughout the country and to the newspapers. The mining exhibit, which is to be very large, will be under the charge of Mr. Hoskold, chief of the national mining bureau. It is hoped, but not definitely settled, that many influential ladies of the country will take measures to secure a good exhibit for the woman's department.

Why One Household Is Worried.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 24.—The half dozen grown children of Millionaire James Pierce, of Santa Clara, are greatly exercised over the secret marriage of the old man, who is 70, to his house servant, Miss Julia Neff. The marriage took place last Tuesday, and the couple came to San Francisco, but the fact did not leak out till Sunday when the old man returned to his palatial home in Santa Clara with his new mistress. A lively family tiff is predicted, but as the old man is worth $3,000,000 he will probably devise a compromise.

Bunko O'Brien Arrested.

LONDON, May 24.—The arrest of O'Brien, the New York bunko stealer, has been confirmed. He was captured at Havre while leaving the steamer Marseille, which left New Orleans on May 1 for Havre and Antwerp. The fugitive tried to leave the steamer with the cargo, when he was detected and captured. The French police appear to have been on the lookout for him, and one of their best detectives was watching at the wharf.

Garza Hiding at Key West.

KEY WEST, Fla., May 24.—Catarina Garza, the Mexican outlaw, is still in this city, although in most careful concealment. It is learned on the best of authority that he reached here about five weeks ago by way of Nassau, and there is good reason to believe that he is closely guarded and protected in the house of a prominent Spanish gentleman here, although every effort to definitely locate him there has thus far proved futile.

The Murder in the Anchorage Asylum.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 24.—The post-mortem on the body of Michael Carey, who was killed at the Anchorage asylum, showed that nearly every bone in his body was broken. The brutal attendants first knocked him down and then kicked him to death.

HE SAW FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. Edgar Returns From the Russian Famine District.

NEW YORK, May 24.—James Edgar, of Minneapolis, who was entrusted with the food sent over by this country to the famine-stricken Russian peasants in the Volga district some two months ago, has returned to New York after having satisfactorily discharged the important duty he had voluntarily assumed.

"I visited all the principal cities in the stricken district," said Mr. Edgar, "and established agencies in each place for the distribution of the food. After appointing the agents I traveled through the smaller villages and saw for myself the suffering of those starving peasants. It is impossible for one who has not seen them as they are to form any idea of their helplessness, horrible condition. They were actually starving when the gift of the American people reached them. The only thing they could get to eat was black bread and there was not even enough of that to go around."

Mr. Edgar showed the reporter a piece of this substance, which he had brought over with him. It looks like petrified black turf. The crust was almost as hard as granite, and could not be broken with the fingers. One of the ingredients of the compound, as Mr. Edgar explained it, was ground sawdust. Broken, barley, oats, rye and resinous bark that had first been reduced to a pulp were the other ingredients. "This is the substance," said Mr. Edgar, "that these unfortunate people have lived on exclusively for months."

MILES ON THE BIKE.

The General Gives His Opinion of the Bicycle Trip.

CHICAGO, May 24.—"It's a dangerous achievement," said Gen. Miles. He was speaking of the bicycle riders, and their stubborn fight through the mud of five states. The fact that the message did not arrive in New York within schedule time was no surprise to him.

"The trip was a remarkable success," said he. "This experimental ride has established the fact that the bicycle would be of practical service in the army, and it has also been of service in calling attention to the wretched condition of the public highways in communities that profess to be tolerably well civilized. The matter of good roads should receive more attention than it has been given."

"Does the success of the experiment prove anything as to the use of the bicycle in the army?"

"It confirms me in the belief that the bicycle will be extensively used, and that very soon. The wheelman can travel faster than the horseman, he makes no noise, does not form as large a target for the enemy, and, even if he can not go some places where the horseman can, in more instances he can go where no horse could follow. The bicycle will certainly be used in the army. I would not advise the use of the lightweight speeding machines, as I notice that some of them broke down under the hard travel. A stout wheelman of medium weight would be required."

Babe Killers Convicted.

LONDON, May 24.—The trials at Bilna, Russia, of over thirty men and women on charges of wholesale, systematic infanticide, have been concluded. All of the prisoners have been convicted and sentenced to imprisonment in a fortress for terms ranging from six to thirty years. The number of victims has not been positively ascertained, but the bodies of sixty-five children, mostly new-born, have been traced. The evidence seemed with blood-curdling disclosures as to the methods employed in getting rid of the unfortunate children.

A Tunnel on Fire.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., May 24.—All trains on the Columbus & Western railway are stopped on account of a disastrous fire which is raging in Coosa mountain tunnel, twenty miles from Birmingham. It is supposed that a spark from a passing engine set the timber of the tunnel on fire. Fire-engines have been sent from this city. It will be several days before the flames can be checked. The construction of this tunnel cost $1,000,000. The damage will be very great.

Street Cars Tied Up.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., May 24.—The street car system of this city was tied up Monday morning by a strike of all the conductors and motormen, who two weeks ago demanded an increase of twenty-four cents a day. This was refused, and the men held a meeting Sunday night at which it was decided to strike. The strikers belong to the National Federation of Labor, and a long struggle is expected.
